

Where I eat in Krakow: Ewa Wachowicz

2018-11-09

Ewa Wachowicz invites you for breakfast to Zalipianki for homemade bread and cold cuts. What other food establishments does she visit?

For breakfast: my place

My Zalipianki restaurant where we bake our own bread and make all the cold cuts ourselves. Our omelettes are made with free-range eggs - simply delicious!

For coffee: Loch Camelot

A charming alley leading through św. Tomasza Street and the equally charming Loch Camelot cafe with lovely coffee.

For Sunday lunch: Nota Resto

Nota Resto at Krzyża Street with its excellent seasonal menu.

For a quick snack: zapiekanka

Zapiekanka on Plac Nowy - the best option for any time of the day or night.

For an evening get-together with friends: Nova Resto Bar

Nova Resto Bar on Estery Street - yummy food, great atmosphere, it is my favourite spot for hanging out with friends.

For a date: views of Krakow

A walk to Krakus Mound with a spectacular view over the entire city.

A place in Krakow where I relax: Wolski Forest

Wolski Forest is perfect for a long walk or running. I always feel wonderful surrounded by its lush greenery.

A dish that I strongly associate with Krakow: maczanka.

Maczanka krakowska - years ago a favourite snack of Krakow coachmen - today the best our region has to offer captured in a single dish. It is traditionally served in a Kaiser roll, but I serve it on crispy flatbread.

Ewa Wachowicz - TV producer and journalist. Passionate about cooking, author of many cookery books, hosts her own TV show "Ewa gotuje" (Polsat). She is a juror of the Polish Top Chef and recently became the owner of the restaurant Zalipianki Ewa Wachowicz.
